LEGISLATIVE RESULTS.

In real achievement this legislature will be recorded as a flat failure; in its refusal to pass radical and injurious measures of various sorts it has earned a certain degree of credit. In net results it is considerably below the standard of any session Utah has ever seen, whether Democratic or Republican.

Most of this unsatisfactory outcome is due to a struggle for political advantage on the part of Spry, Callister, Hull, Anderson, Joseph and their coterie which has assumed the management of the state on behalf of the Smoot wing of the Republican party.
The dominant members of this syndicate were not elected to represent the state; they hold no elective office of any sort; they have no commission from the people, although they happen to be drawing salaries from a federal government which has not required of them any strenuous attention to their official duties.

Their concern has been, not the welfare of Utah, not the future of its people, but the fate of the Republican organization. With this in view, they elected Joseph as speaker of the house and told him how to name his committees. They have found in him an obedient henchman, willing to ignore parliamentary rules, public opinion, the rights of members and the best interests of his constituents. Through him they defeated the Galveston bill, which practically all of Salt Lake hoped to have passed. Through him they postponed any settlement of the controversy between the university and Agricultural college; with his aid they kept to the fore as a disturbing factor the fire and police commission bill, which they hoped would give them control of Salt Lake's fire and police force, although the bill is clearly unconstitutional, and they knew it.

This has been the measure of their achievement. To the senate is due the exposure of the scandal in the state land board, which this same political combination has answered with re-nomination of the men involved. Such conservative regard as has been exhibited for real legislative duty has been almost wholly reserved for the senate, where the syndicate was in bad odor; and even here members were found reading to the senate written instructions from Spry as to what should be done and what undone.

Not one constructive measure passed either house, though happily the destructive bills met the same fate. With the memory of the bounty frauds and the land board scandal fresh in their minds, the legislators wasted their time on unprofitable debate over measures affecting a notorious justice court and sidetracked important business to wangle over the college consolidation measure which failed.

The total accomplishment of this Republican representative session was a plain fizzle, a parody on deliberation, a travesty on parliaments, a thing better forgotten entirely.

IDAHO'S NEW JUDGE.

F. S. Dietrich, general attorney in Idaho for the Oregon Short Line railway, was yesterday appointed judge of the United States district court for Idaho, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Judge Beatty. In view of the president's recent attitude on the railroad question, his insistence upon the rate bill and other so-called anti-railroad legislation, the appointment of a railroad attorney to the federal bench seems rather inconsistent.

Mr. Dietrich has been in the employ of the Short Line for a number of years, and he has rendered the company efficient and faithful service. His headquarters are at Pocatello, but, in the course of his employment, he has tried cases in practically all of the Idaho counties reached by the Short Line.
It was thought by a great many people that Mr. Dietrich's corporation affiliations would act as an absolute bar to his appointment, and by those people his candidacy for the federal judgeship was not given serious consideration.
It would be an injustice to Mr. Dietrich, however, to end our comment on his selection at this point. He is widely known as a most able lawyer and as a man whose private life has been above reproach. Though he has been zealous in his attention to his work for the railroad that employed him, no attempt at the use of unfair methods has ever been charged against him. He has fought his battles honorably and openly, and it may be added, he has won the greater part of them.

The writer's personal knowledge of Mr. Dietrich compels the conclusion that the president believes him big enough and brave and honest enough to disassociate himself entirely from his corporation connections when he takes his place on the bench. Those who know Mr. Dietrich best, his friends and his neighbors, will feel sure that his decisions will be free from bias or prejudice of any character, that he will give the government the benefit of his large store of legal knowledge and that his service will be both honorable and distinguished as long as he is spared to the service.

In this connection it may interest some readers to know that the appointment of Mr. Dietrich to the bench removes a senatorial candidate who might have been extremely dangerous to James H. Brady, chairman of the Idaho Republican committee, and one of Mr. Dietrich's fellow townsmen. Indications now are that the senatorial fight, as far as the Republicans are concerned, will be between Mr. Brady and Senator Heyburn, whose term expires two years hence.

TOO MUCH OR TOO LITTLE.

The legislature has passed the bill making an appropriation of $2,000 for a Utah exhibit at the Jamestown, Virginia exposition of 1907. The item unquestionably should be vetoed by the governor when he reaches the appropriation bill. There are many people who believe that, as long as there is so much internal dissension in Utah, it is not worth while to try to advertise the state at all; that any money whatever spent on advertising is money wasted.

Certainly, though, $2,000 is far too small a sum to appropriate for a display of the state's resources at an exposition of any magnitude, and the Jamestown exposition will not be a small affair by any means. A large majority of the states of the union will be represented there in a manner commensurate with their importance. For $2,000 Utah could do practically nothing.
Why, it would take $2,000 to pay the mileage and other expenses of a board of fair commissioners and a secretary to and from Jamestown. Nothing would be left with which to pay for gathering an exhibit, for freight and other necessary expenses.

While we are willing to admit that four or five very good-looking men could be found in Utah, we hardly believe it would be worth $2,000 to the state to send them to Jamestown to be looked at for a few days.
They might go to the exposition and distribute a few thousand cheap pamphlets that would be thrown away unread, or they might stand at prominent places and invite all passers to stop and listen to a discourse on Utah's mineral, agricultural and other advantages. But would anybody have time to listen?

We repeat, the governor should veto this appropriation. It is too much to spend in giving a select party a nice midsummer junket, and it is too little to do Utah any good. If there is so much money in the treasury that the state has $2,000 to throw away, let the cash be spent in erecting a gilt-topped statue to Speaker Joseph, to be placed on the summit of the flagstaff on Ensign peak. Or the $2,000 might be distributed among the various counties of the state with the distinct understanding that it be used to prevent the return of any of the present Spry-Callister-Hull members to their present positions.

It is doubtful if more than an inconsiderable percentage of the population would object to such use of the Jamestown $2,000.

An officer of the Austrian army points out in a pamphlet that, in the event of a war between the United States and Japan, it would be comparatively easy for Japan to knock our Pacific coast line into small bits. But cheer up. Some Austrian army officer, perhaps this same one, was quite sure that Spain was going to whip this country.

The Denver Republican's story of a woman 114 years of age who lives in Colorado can hardly be true. Nothing is said about the time her mother lifted her up to be kissed by George Washington or the time she danced with Lafayette.

In Kansas City the other day some men were caught playing poker in a cold storage warehouse. It should have been easy for the participants in that game to get "cold feet" whether they were winners or losers.

Former Senator Burton of Kansas announces that as soon as he gets out of jail he is going into the newspaper business. That will be the most serious blow the profession has sustained for a great many years.

A University of Wisconsin professor leaps into the limelight with the assertion that small families are an evolution of civilization. That certainly is a boost for the mule.

Will the weather man kindly inform us why he doesn't succeed in making it either rain or snow in earnest. Goodness knows he seems to have been trying hard enough.

SOCIETY

The marriage of Miss Hazel Grant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Grant, and Imri B. Needham took place yesterday morning in the Salt Lake temple, and was followed last evening by a reception at the home of the bride's parents on Centre street. The home was bright with flowers, pink and green decorating the parlor and the library, while cream colored ribbon and great bunches of violets beautified the dining room. The bridal party were assisted by Miss Alice Needham, Mrs.
George Dixon and Miss Ethel Groos-beck. An orchestra in an upper room furnished a delightful program of music. The young people were obliged to postpone their wedding trip on account of the floods on the western lines, and they will be shortly at home at No.
3 Sumner avenue.

Mrs. Lee Charles Miller will be hostess at a musicale to be given in honor of Miss Edna Bailey. The hour is set at 7:30, and a large number of the friends of the hosts will be present.

Mrs. J. R. Walker entertains today at a luncheon at the Alta club.

Mrs. E. Bonnemort entertained a party of friends at the opening performance of "Madame Butterfly" the guests being Governor and Mrs. John C. Cutler, Professor and Mrs. Chamberlain and Mrs. Halverson.

Mrs. Wallace Bransford will entertain at bridge tomorrow afternoon to meet Mrs. Roscoe M. Breeden.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Alpha T. Easton, who have been away from the post for some months, have returned to Douglas and will shortly be at home in No. 19.

Mrs. Albert R. Hager, who has spent the past six months or so with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Read, will leave about May 1 for Manila to join Mr. Hager.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Buckingham returned yesterday from Omaha.

Mrs. Graham F. Putnam gives a piano recital this evening with her most advanced pupils at the First Congregational church. A number of her smaller pupils will assist.

Mrs. R. S. Joyce and her daughter, Miss Frances Joyce came down from Ogden yesterday to attend the opera.

Dr. and Mrs. D. H. Wallick of Provo have been visiting Mr. M. E. Whitney.

Mrs. Clarence Warrick entertained the sewing club at her home yesterday.

Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Landenberg will shortly be at home in the new sharp terrace on First street.

Mrs. J. J. Broughall entertained the Utopia card club yesterday at her apartments in the Fifth East hotel.

Miss Elsie Sadler entertained a few of her girl friends yesterday afternoon at an informal tea at the Sadler home on Eleventh East street.

Mrs. Hugh Park returns to her country home at Canyon Crest tomorrow for the spring and summer.

There was a quiet wedding party at the home of the bride's parents, 410 East Fourth South, last night when Miss Mabel Bluet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bluet, was united in marriage to John M. Butler. Only immediate relations were present.

Mrs. John Reed left yesterday afternoon to join Mr. Reed in Denver, after a several weeks' visit with her mother in Seattle.

Mrs. John C. Cutler expects to leave within the next fortnight for Los Angeles to spend a part of the spring.

Mrs. Alan Lovey is now at home at No. 4 the Raleigh, on East First South street.

Mrs. George R. Hancock and her daughter, Miss Hollister Hancock have returned from Riverside, California.

Mrs. R. S. Francisworth of Ogden spent yesterday in the city.

The ladies of the Lloyd Alliance have issued invitations for a dramatic, musical and social evening to be concluded with an informal dance tomorrow evening at Unity hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stingley have moved, and are now at home at No.
1, Louise Flats.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Lee Chamberlain gave an informal reception at her residence, 289 1-2 South Fifth East, in honor of her sister, Mrs.
M. F. McKensie of Brigham, who is visiting her here for a week. The guests present were Mesdames F. M.
Cohen, F. Fox, J. R. Wheeler, J. B.
Graham, formerly of Bingham; E. M.
Janney, Kate B. Anderson, Jennie C.
Holcomb, Hettie Stewart; Messrs Tom Pitt, J. Chamberlain, Jr., and J. Mellett. Dainty refreshments were served.
The rooms were beautifully decorated with carnations and ferns.

Preliminary Showing of Effective Models in New Spring Hats and Bonnets.

We are announcing a showing of highly interesting importations of English and French Model Hats. It is a most comprehensive display, and correctly forecasts the trend of fashion's most favored ideals for the coming season.

The new Silk Japanese Suits and Demi-Costumes now attract wide attention.

The edict is passed, and Silk Suits have come into their own, especially the "Smart Jumper" and Demi-Costume ideas.

Not only is PARIS, whence nearly all style inspirations come, entranced with them, but conservative NEW YORK is equally ENTHUSIASTIC. The best feature of these DAINY garments is the fact that they are not only proper for ordinary STREET WEAR, but can be used in semi-social functions, $15.00 to $100.00.

The correctly tailored Suits and Gowns in Voils, Fancy Mixtures, Marquise and Cloth will be displayed in all the late creations of styles.
